Sure. If it's going to be more comprehensive let's get a draft, then share with William and Ken before gov. Given the status, it probably doesn't need to be much more than a list of who the stakeholders are and their position.

Jenni,

What do you think about giving Gov a general update on the ACP, or at least stakeholder perspectives? I'm getting steady contacts (emails, letters, calls) about the ACP, and we could mention other interest groups when you mention Kay's group to him.

Claudia,

I don't know what your usual practice is when people respond about not getting a meeting but my recommendation with this one would be to let it be for now. Completely your call.

Having said that, I'm going to give gov a brief note about this particular group of folks so he's aware of the persistence as I think he'd want to know.

Hello, Claudia,

I am very disappointed to receive this information as I have tried for several weeks to arrange a meeting. If there is any change in the availability of the governor's schedule, please let me know.

As I indicated to Jeremy Tarr (and this spring in an earlier meeting with Jenni Owen) the proposed meeting does not include environmental justice organizations, rather 2 or 3 individuals who are from the governor's home town and who wished to talk with him about their opposition to the proposed Atlantic Coast Pipeline and their grave concerns.

I am aware of the many clean energy groups and the ongoing meetings, letters, and actions from a variety of environmental justice groups in NC advocating with Governor Cooper and his energy policy staff. We recognize every appointment has value.

Thank you.

Kind regards,

Kay Reibold

Hi Ms. Reibold,

I hope this finds you well. We received your request for a meeting with Governor Cooper regarding the ACP. Unfortunately, we are not able to schedule a meeting at this time and I am sending regrets on the Governor's behalf.

Thank you for reaching out and extending the opportunity to the Governor. Hope you have a great weekend.

Best,

Claudia Shoemaker
